Some of the correspondence is being withheld under the following exemption:

- Section 36(2)(c) Would otherwise prejudice, or would be likely otherwise to prejudice, the effective conduct of public affairs

Under Section 36 Public Health Wales is required to provide the opinion of our Qualified Person. The Qualified Person within the organisation is the Chief Executive, Dr Tracey Cooper.

As the qualified person for Public health Wales I have considered all of the facts in this case and my opinion is as follows.

To release this information at this time into the public domain would be likely to negatively impact on the relationships between Welsh Government, UK Government and Public Health England and the conduct of public affairs.

I have reached this conclusion because I believe that releasing the information will distort public confidence whilst in the middle of the Coronavirus pandemic.

For that reason I have formed the opinion that Public Health Wales should refuse to disclose this information at this time and engage the exemption under

Dr Tracey Cooper, Chief Executive, Public Health Wales.

As Section 36 is a qualified exemption, I am required by the Freedom of Information Act 2000 to subject the information to the Public Interest Test, which I have done.

Arguments in favour of release of the information

We understand that there is a strong public interest in the public understanding the decisions and actions and the testing regime to control and manage COVID-19 and that release would promote transparency and public awareness.

The issue could have a significant impact on the public and so there is likely to be considerable public interest in furthering the debate.

Arguments against the release of the information

The information being withheld contains email exchanges between Public Health Wales, Public Health England, Welsh Government and UK Government. We consider it important to have a safe space for all parties to be able to discuss freely and form plans which in a fast paced environment changes frequently.

Public Health Wales and Public Health England lead on discussions on public health matters regularly consulting with ministers and Welsh Government officials. It is important that these discussions and proposals are worked through before being made public. Disclosure of these discussions will not provide the clarity that the public require and could prejudice the formulation of policy going forward.

Conclusion

My conclusion therefore is that it is not in the public interest to release the information requested. The wider public interest favours good working relationships between Public Health Wales, Public Health England, Welsh Government and the UK Government and that disclosing information at this time would negatively impact on the decision making and actions around testing to control and manage the virus. I also do not wish to distort public confidence whilst in the middle of the Coronavirus pandemic, particularly following a prolonged period of lockdown and shielding of the public.
